

Dear Pink Book User:

We hope this 42nd edition of the Sacramento Council of Dog Club's Pink Book will be of assistance to you in directing your clients to reputable breeders of AKC-registered breeds. They may contact us either by phone at the number listed in this directory or through our web site at www.sacramentodogcouncil.com

In this age of the puppy-mill industry, it is important that potential dog owners be put in contact with ethical, non-commercial breeders, those who breed for love and not for profit. Breeders listed with the Council can advise potential buyers on what to expect from the breed they are considering. Since our breeders are committed to the puppies they produce, buyers will always have a ready source of information and guidance as the puppy develops and, best of all, they will be assured of buying a healthy, well-socialized puppy who has been raised in a loving home.

*Board of Directors
Sacramento Council of Dog Clubs, Inc.*

ABOUT THE COUNCIL

The Sacramento Council of Dog Clubs is a coalition of AKC breed, all-breed, and training clubs, each represented by a delegate at the monthly meetings. The General Membership meeting is held on the second Monday of odd-numbered months at 7:00 P.M. at the SMUD Customer Service Center, 6301 S Street, Sacramento. The Council addresses issues affecting the dog fancy, including legislation, ethics and education. Breed showcases, an annual symposium for dog breeders, and information on breed rescue resources are integral parts of our educational effort. We answer calls for breed referrals or on any dog-related question. The Pink Book, updated yearly, has proven to be a valuable link between the public and reputable, responsible breeders. The Pink Book is available as a ready resource to veterinarians, pet shops, clubs, boarding kennels and breeders.

Any club may apply for membership in the Council by writing to the Corresponding Secretary, P.O. Box 215126, Sacramento CA 95821.

BREEDERS REFERRAL SERVICE

The Breeders Referral Service was established in 1970 by the Council to help the public locate reputable breeders of quality dogs. In addition to the Pink Book, the Council maintains a web site at www.sacramentodogcouncil.com and a voice mailbox (916) 483-3602 to direct puppy buyers to expert advice and to educate them about the importance of buying from responsible breeders.

Breeders listed in the Pink Book are subject to the Council's Code of Ethics. (See page 6.) Each applicant must have a thorough knowledge of his or her breed and be active in AKC or UKC sanctioned events or activities relative to that breed's instinct and purpose. The applicant's premises are inspected for sanitary conditions, the health of the dogs, and recordkeeping, including sales contracts and spay/neuter agreements.

HOW TO EVALUATE A BREEDER

The reputable breeder feels responsibility toward the breed itself, the dogs he or she produces, and toward the person who buys them. A reputable breeder spends time and money on matters that are in the best interest of the breed.

How does a prospective puppy buyer recognize a reputable breeder?

1. A reputable breeder participates in events sponsored by national clubs, such as the American Kennel Club or United Kennel Club. These events include conformation shows, obedience, rally, agility, field and herding trials, and coursing and tracking. This participation is the reason he or she breeds dogs, not to produce a cash crop.
2. A reputable breeder never sells puppies to pet shops or brokers, but only by direct contact with the prospective buyer.
3. A reputable breeder does not release a puppy into a new home until it is at least eight weeks old.
4. A reputable breeder shows you the mother and all the puppies rather than bringing out one puppy at a time for you to view.

5. A reputable breeder sells puppies that are properly vaccinated and advises you of any screening, such as hip X-rays, that should be done as the puppy grows older.
6. A reputable breeder will give you the following documents when you buy a puppy:
 - a) A health record listing the dates and type of vaccines and worming treatment received by the puppy so you can present this record to your veterinarian,
 - b) The registration papers or a contract under which the registration will be given when you provide proof that the puppy has been spayed or neutered. If registration papers have not yet been returned from the registry, the breeder will give you the registered name of the dam and sire, their registration numbers and the puppy's date of birth.
 - c) A copy of the puppy's pedigree and, for a puppy or dog purchased in California, a copy of the Dog Pedigree Registration Disclosure signed by you, the buyer.

A reputable breeder will also discuss the pros and cons of owning this particular breed and will advise you of the training the puppy will need. Even after you buy a puppy, the breeder's help and advice do not end, but continue throughout the dog's life, a responsibility cheerfully accepted by the reputable breeder.

BREED RESCUE

Rescue programs are operated by fanciers of a particular breed of dog who place unwanted (usually adult) dogs in responsible, loving homes. Many times dogs come into a rescue program because their owners are moving or divorcing, factors that do not diminish a dog's suitability as a companion. While policies of rescue groups vary, dogs are generally checked for health and temperament, updated on vaccinations, and spayed or neutered before placement. Prospective homes are carefully screened to ensure that the adoptive family and the dog are suited for one another.

Clubs and individuals with access to rescue are marked with an asterisk (*) on our referral list. Additional breed rescues are listed at the end of this book. (The supplemental rescue list is compiled from various sources and is offered as a public service. Rescue listed facilities have not been inspected by the Council.)

CODE OF ETHICS

This code is set forth with the realization that ethics cannot be legislated and that most individuals intend to do what is right. The purpose of the code is to set forth principles of practice advocated by the Council as members strive to preserve the quality of their breeds. The code represents the minimum in ethical practices; how best to conform to these practices should be determined by the good judgment of individuals and their national or regional clubs.

QUALITY I shall:

1. Comply with all AKC and/or national breed club rules and regulations and breed dogs according to the approved national breed standard.
2. Use only physically and temperamentally sound dogs and screen for genetic defects using available resources, such as OFA, GDC and CERF testing, when appropriate. I shall permit breeding only to registered, healthy quality animals, appropriately screened for inherited diseases, owned by individuals who give satisfactory evidence that they will give their dogs proper care and attention and who are in agreement with this code of ethics.
3. Measure the quality of my dogs by regular participation in events sponsored by the AKC, national breed clubs or equivalent recognized organizations.

ETHICS I shall:

1. Not sell stock under false representation, nor use misleading or untruthful statements in advertising or selling.
2. Not degrade any person, nor his or her breed or kennel, who meets the standards of the Council's Referral Service.
3. Help educate the public in those areas of the dog fancy with which I am familiar.
4. Provide full disclosure on all dogs and puppies sold. Full disclosure covers all medical records, information on the history, behavior, temperament, diseases, idiosyncrasies, and the care and feeding of my breed.
5. Not breed a bitch until she is mature nor more often than once a year.

6. Not place a puppy in a new home until he or she is at least eight weeks of age. [California law, enacted in 2005 and codified as California Penal Code Sec. 597z, makes it a crime to sell a dog under eight weeks of age.]

.RESPONSIBILITIES I shall:

1. In the interest of improving the breed, maintain complete records on litters bred, puppies and dogs sold, medical and general records and comments on the behavior of my dogs.
2. Before breeding, consider the full responsibility of placing the puppies I do not intend to keep. I shall accept full responsibility for any dog that I breed. I shall sell on a contract that ensures that the breeder is contacted whenever the owner cannot keep a dog at any time in the dog's life. As the breeder, I shall either assist in the placement of the dog or accept its return. As owner of a stud dog, I shall assist in the placement of, or accept the return of, any dog sired by my stud dog whose breeder of record is unable to fulfill his or her responsibility to the progeny.
3. Issue restricted registration papers, subject to the rules of the AKC, or withhold registration papers until proof of spaying or neutering is presented on any dog sold or placed as a companion. If feasible, I shall provide spaying or neutering prior to selling or placing a dog, in order to prevent the overpopulation of my breed.
4. Not place at auction or sell or consign puppies or adult dogs to pet stores, brokers, or other commercial dealers.
5. Ensure that my dogs are not a nuisance to my neighbors or my community.
6. Under no circumstances, surrender a purebred dog or puppy to a humane society or shelter. If the animal cannot be placed for reasons of health or temperament, I shall take responsibility for the euthanizing of the dog.
7. If a dog of my breed is in need of being rescued, notify breed rescue or make the rescue myself, if feasible.
8. If I participate in rescue, either spay or neuter all rescue animals before placement or assume the responsibility of ensuring that is done.

FOR INFORMATION FROM THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB

Although the American Kennel Club (AKC) has headquarters in New York City, most of its offices are located in its Operation Center at 8051 Arco Corporate Drive, Raleigh NC 27617. The AKC has no regional offices. For a registration question or problem, or for a registration application, call AKC's customer service department at (919) 233-9767 between 8:15 AM and 4:30 PM Eastern time or access its web site at www.akc.org. Processing time for an AKC application is two to three weeks. If the time extends beyond four weeks, check the status of the application. Be prepared to provide the AKC service representative with the following information: breed, sex, litter number, and name choice.

The AKC web site also lists national and local specialty clubs (clubs devoted to a specific breed). These are an invaluable resource for locating a reputable breeder or finding out more about a particular breed. Go to www.akc.org click on "Clubs" and follow the link for National Clubs. Select the breed of interest from the pull-down menu. Each national club web site provides contact information and links to member breeders and affiliated local clubs.

FINDING A LOST DOG

What should you do when your dog is lost?

1. Canvass your neighborhood. Put up posters and leave your telephone number and dog's description with everyone you see (local children, joggers, service people) and local veterinary clinics. Be thorough; missing dogs are often found within a mile of home.
2. Check local animal care and regulations facilities and shelters at least every three days. A visit is better than a call. Be sure to check all agencies in your area. (Sacramento residents should check both City and County Animal Care and Regulation and the Sacramento SPCA.)

3. Advertise in the newspaper. Check the Found column daily. Since an ad may not accurately describe your dog, call on any dog that sounds similar.

4. THE MOST IMPORTANT STEP IS THE ONE YOU TAKE BEFORE YOUR DOG IS LOST. Identify your dog with a valid license or name tag for his or her collar and, since collars can be lost, have your dog microchipped or tattooed for permanent identification. A collar tag will help any finder return your dog to you. A microchip could save a dog's life if he or she ends up in a shelter. Animal care and regulation agencies scan for microchips before euthanizing animals or making them available for adoption.
